A diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease can be difficult, but getting accurate information and support can help you know what to expect and what to do next. Use this checklist to get started.

Learn about Alzheimer's disease

ng informed will help you know what to expect as disease progresses. Here are some resources:
Alzheimer's Disease Education and Referral

(ADEAR) Center: 1-800-438-4380; www.nia.nih.gov/alzheimers

☐ Alzheimer's Association: 1-800-272-3900; www.alz.org

☐ Alzheimer's Foundation of America: 1-866-232-8484; www.alzfdn.org

☐ Local hospitals: May have educational programs about Alzheimer's disease/dementia

Get regular medical care

☐ Make regular appointments with your primary care doctor or specialist (neurologist, neuropsychiatrist, geriatric psychiatrist).

☐ Consider going to a specialized memory disorders clinic. Ask your doctor for a referral if desired.

Find local services and support

☐ Find local services by contacting Eldercare Locator: 1-800-677-1116; www.eldercare.gov

☐ Find your local Alzheimer's organization, such as an Alzheimer's Association chapter: 1-800-272-3900; www.alz.org/apps/findus.asp

☐ Find local member organizations and providers affiliated with the Alzheimer's Foundation of America: 1-866-232-8484; www.alzfdn.org

Contact relevant local healthcare and social service agencies

Do some legal, financial, and long-term care planning

☐ Get information to help you plan: www.nia.nih.gov/alzheimers/topics/legal-and-financial-planning

□ Prepare or update your will, living will, healthcare power of attorney, and financial power of attorney.
 To find a lawyer, contact your local bar association or the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys: www.naela.org

☐ Learn about care you may need in the future and how to pay for it: www.longtermcare.gov

□ Explore getting help to pay for medicines, housing, transportation, and more. Visit the National Council on Aging: www.benefitscheckup.org

Get help as needed with day-to-day tasks

☐ Use simple memory aids like a notepad or sticky notes to jot down reminders, a pillbox to keep medications organized, and a calendar to record appointments.

□ Ask family members or friends or find local services to help with routine tasks, such as cooking, paying bills, transportation, or shopping.

☐ Consider using technology solutions for medication management, safety (e.g., emergency response, door alarms), and other care.

☐ See tips about coping daily, sharing your diagnosis, changes in relationships, and more: www.alz.org/living_with_alzheimers.asp.
